DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-18 have been examined. Application 10/071,200 (PERSONAL ACCOUNT COLLECTING SYSTEM CAPABLE OF READILY COLLECTING INFORMATIONS OF ACCOUNTS OF PERSONS) has a filing date 02/11/2002 and foreign data 02/09/2001.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 4 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter (i.e., "information of a favor) which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Perri et al (US 2001/0020231).

As per claim 1, Perri teaches:

A personal account collecting system for use in collecting information of accounts of persons on Internet, comprising:

managing means of an information provider for managing a service site for providing information on the Internet (see paragraph 52);

means of a first user for getting access to said service site for providing information through a mobile site on the Internet in order to utilize said service site for providing information (see paragraph 65);

introducing means of said first user for introducing a second user, as a target utilizing said service site for providing information, who is connected with said first user by human networks (see paragraphs 14, 15 and 76);; and collecting means of said information provider for collecting information of an account of said second user in a database of said service site for providing information (see paragraphs 68-70,78);.

As per claim 2, Perri teaches:

A personal account collecting system as claimed in claim 1, wherein said first user, by the use of a mobile personal telephone, gets access to said service site for providing information through a mobile site established on the Internet by a communication service provider (see paragraphs 65-66);.

As per claim 3, Perri teaches:

A personal account collecting system as claimed in claim 1, wherein said information provider is an advertising agent (see paragraph 6);.

As per claim 4, Perri teaches:

A personal account collecting system as claimed in claim 3, wherein not only said information of an account of said second user but also information of a favor of said second user are registered in said data base of said service site for providing information, said advertising agent transferring an advertisement to said second user in response to said information of a favor of said second user (see paragraphs 76 and 78).

As per claim 5, Perri teaches:

A personal account collecting system as claimed in claim 3, wherein said communication service provider provides circumstances for establishing said service site for providing information managed by said information provider on the Internet, said communication service provider, in reward for the provision of said circumstances, obtaining advertisement charges from said advertising agent, responsive to an advertisement provided by said advertising agent (see paragraphs 10, 56 and 61);.

As per claim 6, Perri teaches:

As per claim 7, Perri teaches:

A personal account collecting system as claimed in claim 5, wherein said communication service provider further provides said advertising agent with information of numbers of accounts collected by said collecting means of said information provider responsive to an advertisement provided by said advertising agent (see paragraphs 65-66).

As per claim 8, Perri teaches:

A personal account collecting system as claimed in claim 1, wherein said information of an account of said second user is an electronic mail address of said second user (see paragraphs 65-66);.

As per claim 9, Perri teaches:

A personal account collecting system as claimed in claim 1, wherein said human networks are based on reliable human relations so that said second user is a family, a relative, a friend, or the like of said first user (see paragraphs 60, 78);.

As per claim 10, Perri teaches:

A method of collecting a personal account for use in collecting information of accounts of persons on Internet, said method comprising the steps of:

an information provider's managing a service site for providing information on the Internet;

a first user's getting access to said service site for providing information through a mobile site on the Internet in order to utilize said service site for providing information;

said first user's introducing a second user, as a target utilizing said service site for providing information, who is connected with said first user by human networks; and said information provider's collecting information of an account of said second user in a database of said service site for providing information. The same rejection applied to claim 1 is applied to claim 10.

As per claim 11, Perri teaches:

A method as claimed in claim 10, wherein said first user, by the use of a mobile personal telephone, gets access to said service site for providing information through a mobile site established on the Internet by a communication service provider. The same rejection applied to claim 2 is applied to claim 11.

As per claim 12, Perri teaches:

A method as claimed in claim 10, wherein said information provider is an advertising agent. The same rejection applied to claim 3 is applied to claim 12.

As per claim 13, Perri teaches:

A method as claimed in claim 12, wherein not only said information of an account of said second user but also information of a favor of said second user are registered in said data base of said service site for providing information, said advertising agent transferring an advertisement to said second user in response to said information of a favor of said second user. The same rejection applied to claim 4 is applied to claim 13.

As per claim 14, Perri teaches:

A method as claimed in claim 12, wherein said communication service provider provides circumstances for establishing said service site for providing information managed by said information provider on the Internet, said communication service provider, in reward for the provision of said circumstances, obtaining advertisement charges from said advertising agent, responsive to an advertisement provided by said advertising agent. The same rejection applied to claim 5 is applied to claim 14.

As per claim 15, Perri teaches:

A method as claimed in claim 14, wherein said communication service provider further provides said advertising agent with information of numbers of accesses to said mobile site by said first and second users responsive to an advertisement provided by said advertising agent. The same rejection applied to claim 6 is applied to claim 15.

As per claim 16, Perri teaches:

A method as claimed in claim 14, wherein said communication service provider further provides said advertising agent with information of numbers of accounts collected by said collecting means of said information provider responsive to an advertisement provided by said advertising agent. The same rejection applied to claim 7 is applied to claim 16.

As per claim 17, Perri teaches:

A method as claimed in claim 10, wherein said information of an account of said second user is an electronic mail address of said second user. The same rejection applied to claim 8 is applied to claim 17.

As per claim 18, Perri teaches:

A method as claimed in claim 10, wherein said human networks are based on reliable human relations so that said second user is a family, a relative, a friend, or the like of said first user. The same rejection applied to claim 9 is applied to claim 18.
